In this first installment of a few screencaps of this, I’ll be covering a few moments in the first class of the school year and give you a few hints at what to expect in the next few posts. From left to right: In the middle is the sign-up sheet for science class. There are roughly 300 students enrolled in the class. The back of the room has a picture of the three students in the first class, dressed in the colored uniforms they’ll be wearing for the year. As the door opens to f678ea9f9e
